

SALT LAKE SOCIETY.

A Review of Last Week's Fashionable Functions.

A JUVENILE DANCING PARTY.

A Kensington Tea—High five entertainments, and a list of Personal Mentions.

ASHONA BLE indoor functions have commenced early this year, for it is not yet late to enjoy open air festivities. Hospitable people find it far easier to give the latter mode of merry-making as the lawn can generally accommodate a larger number of guests. American homes are generally built for small families, consequently the entertainer always finds much embarrassment in deciding where to draw the line for fear of giving offense. But a true lady never takes umbrage where there is no provocation. A proud woman always feels she is wanted if the circumstance will permit. A woman who gets huffy over a fancied slight is not worth worrying about, and does not deserve consideration. One who throws open the house certainly has the right to bring together those whom her judgment and desires dictate, and her dear five hundred friends should not complain if she fails to see things through her own eyes. Were this the case there is no doubt there would be far more entertaining than there is, as undoubtedly many a woman has given up an affair, rather than crowd her guests or run the risk of offending some, who might consider themselves entitled to an invitation.

There are a number of lovely girls visiting in the city and they have been much feted, making the week a very merry one, and this week bids fair to rival the weeks that have gone.

As the coming season promises to be exceptionally gay throughout its entire length, most probably the dinner dance will be the favorite mode of entertaining, as it was last season. From eight to sixteen couples can be nicely seated in many homes where a good dinner is partaken of, and then it is an easy matter to put tables out of sight and be ready for the dance. It is a somewhat expensive way to entertain, but has the advantage of beginning and ending the dance early, for one must necessarily be prompt at the dinner hour, and as a hostess is anxious to seat her guests at once, the dancing can surely follow in a couple of hours.

Miss McCorkle gave a high tea at 7 o'clock Wednesday in honor of Miss Kate of Philadelphia and Miss May Wallace of Omaha. The grand dining hall, with its massive rosewood wainscoting, its rich draperies and superb paintings, was ablaze with light. The table, with its snowy satin damask and exquisitely cut crystal, its rare Dresden china, its exquisite clusters of asters at each plate, the different colors lending a charming variety—made a rarely lovely picture, which the ladies and gentlemen in full dress completely missed. McCorkle received her guests with graciousness, costumed in a soft white silk, daintily finished at throat and wrists with a filmy beaded lace. The menu was:

- Bread. Olives.
- Opyster Patties. Raspberry Punch.
- Chicken. Peas. Saratoga Chips. Bread.
- Salted Almonds. Olives.
- Tomato Salad. Toasted Crackers.
- Ice Cream. Strawberry Preserves.
- Cakes. Candies.

The ladies adjourned to the drawing room, where coffee and tea were served, while the gentlemen repaired to the piazza to smoke and sip their coffee. After satisfying the inner man all joined, and from a basket drew cards to which pencils were attached. Upon three were written the words "edge" and three were to do it as unphilosophically as possible. The result was, for instance, Miss Grace, who won, chose "The Spanish Cavalier" and Mr. Dean Lyman "The Old Oakon Buckle."

The prizes were books. Miss Grace Wallace was a volume of J. M. Miller on Delicacy, and a handsome illustrated copy of Walt Whitman's poems was carried off by Mr. Dean Lyman.

The guests, besides those already named, were the Misses Marie Louise Anderson, Ella Thomas, Katherine Anderson, Margaret Zane, The gentlemen were Messrs. Harry Lyman, Wicks, Frank Zane, Will Anderson, Holland, Henry and Clarence McCorkle, Holmes of Detroit, and Hempstead.

A very enjoyable high five party was given on Thursday evening by Mrs. H. G. H. Coats at her lovely home. It was in complement to her sister, Miss Jarvis of Philadelphia. About fifty invitations were out. Four very handsome prizes were given. A beautiful silver comb, the ladies' first prize, was won by Miss Kimball. The consolation, an artistic silver pin, Mrs. Woodruff was fortunate enough to secure. The gentlemen's first prize, an elegant silver card case, was captured by Mr. Hobbs and the consolation, a silver key ring, was won by Mr. Wicks. At the close of the play the following menu was served consisting of:

- Chicken salad. Bread and butter sandwiches.
- Salted almonds. Olives.
- Ice-cream. Cakes.
- Coffee.

Below is a list of the invited guests: Mrs. and Mr. Russell, Colonel Woodruff, Mr. Kimball, Dr. and Mrs. Wicks, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Brink, Dr. and Mrs. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Gregg, Mr. and Mrs. Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. McGurkin, Mr. and Mrs. Dinwoodie, Mr. and Mrs. Markland, Dr. and Mrs. Bascom, Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs, Judge and Mrs. Powers, Dr. and Mrs. Standart, the Misses Kimball, Purves, Zane, Mrs. Standart, Misses Margaret Zane and Miss Miller, Messrs. Fonda, Heed, Wicks, Frank and John Zane and A. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Bachs and Professor Jarvis.

The Misses Young were "at home" Wednesday afternoon for a six o'clock tea, given in honor of Miss Hamilton and Miss Love of Philadelphia. The invitations were verbal and the occasion informal. Mrs. Woodruff, Miss Kimball and Miss Lawrence were of the receiving party. Twenty-six were invited. Though the function was informal it was brilliant and elaborate in point of decoration, the house being profusely decorated with great clusters of the stately and gorgeous autumnal flowers, being bunched high, and the tables bright with them. The cards bearing the name of each guest was a beautiful design, and the yellow candles and yellow shades carried out the scheme of color most charmingly. The guests were Misses Standart, Lawrence, Hanner, Ida Hanner, Woodward, Mary W. Love, George, Hamilton, Kimball, Sadler, Kate, Mrs. Woodruff, Woodruff, Messrs. Woodruff, J. H. Young, Harry Sherman, Fields, Hanner, Hampton, Westland, Harry Lyman, Lawrence.

Mrs. F. Clawson threw open her elegant home on Friday evening for the entertainment of her friends for a high five card party. The grand hall and high colored room were splendid with light and rich color. The walls were adorned with pictures and rare draperies. Beautiful palms, sunflowers and asters gave a loveliness that only flowers can, and numbers of mirrors reflected their beauty. The list of guests is here given:

Mrs. Priscilla Jennings, Mrs. James Linworth, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Lee, J. S. Jennings, Walter Jennings, Thomas Jennings, C. E. Dulin, H. M. Dinwoodie, J. E. Cairns, J. C. Ladies first prize won by Mrs. Heber Lee, a silver hairpin; consolation, won by Miss Webber, an oil painting. Gentlemen's first prize won by Mr. Walter Jennings. Second prize by H. M. Dinwoodie.

- Menu: Chicken salad. Chopped crackers. Olives. Almonds and Pudding. Peach ice cream. Cakes. Coffee. Marshmallows.

Mrs. J. H. Moyle gave a Kensington tea Saturday afternoon to about fifty friends. The lovely home was beautifully embellished with asters, sunflowers and rich palms, the large rooms opening into one another gave a fine effect, and the beautiful flowers reflected from the many mirrors intensified the charm. The menu consisted of:

- Chicken Salad. Olives. Bread and Butter. Cakes. Fruit. Almonds. Candy.

The list of guests is as follows: Mrs. T. W. Jennings, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. J. E. Jennings, Mrs. J. A. Jennings, Mrs. Le Grand Young, Mrs. William Jennings, Miss Grace Young, Mrs. Linforth, Mrs. J. E. Cairns, Mrs. Florence Clawson, Mrs. D. C. Dunbar, Miss Dwyer, Miss Alice Hooper, Miss Dwyer, Mrs. J. Campbell, Mrs. L. Jennings, Mrs. C. G. Webber, Miss Manning, Miss Webber, Mrs. H. M. Dinwoodie, Miss George Webber, Mrs. H. G. Whitney, Mrs. H. Young, Mrs. R. S. Wells, Mrs. E. F. Packard, Mrs. G. P. Packard, Miss Edna Dinwoodie, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. P. S. Richards, Miss L. Moyle, Mrs. Spencer Clawson, Mrs. Moyle, Mrs. Karriek, Mrs. S. Dinwoodie, Mrs. W. R. Riker, Mrs. G. Young, Mrs. N. A. Empey, Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. T. W. Morrison of Fort Douglas gave a delightful high five on Wednesday from two to five. Twenty-four invitations were out. The following is a list:

Messdames Sherman, Lowe, Horn, Conklin, J. S. Wither, Syber, Whitney, Hanner, Blunt, Mrs. G. P. Packard, Hanner, Kendall, Newton, Brown, Taylor, Hattaway, and Arthur Wither. The Misses Hanner, Love, Sorley, Whitall, Palmer and Wilkenson. The menu was served during the entire afternoon.

- Chicken Croquet. Soratoga Chips. Thin Bread and Butter. Olives. Tomato Salad. Toasted Crackers. Salted Almonds. Assorted Cakes. Peach Ice Cream.

Katie Williams and Bertha Carter gave an impromptu dancing party last evening to a few of their friends, which was a most enjoyable event. The young girls had gathered huge clusters of the golden beauty, the sunflower, and made the rooms a bower of loveliness, almost rivaling their own loveliness. Delicious refreshments were served. The music was excellent and the evening made for dancing so that all went merrily and each guest pronounced the entertainment perfect. A list of guests is given below:

- Grace Jacobs, Edna Remington, Katherine Geddes, Addie Zane, Blanche Burk, Carol Zond, Louise Smiley, Elsie Sherman, Helen Dickinson, Ted Goodwin, Willie Barnett, Bert Walker, Wallace Lyman, George Wallace, Charley Lawrence, Ray Young, Malcolm Gledinning, Ken Young, Wayne Smith, Dana, Shary Williams.

Mrs. David Eyre gave an elegant luncheon on Tuesday last at 2 o'clock. Sunflowers were the flower decorations and were used with beautiful effect. The tables were exquisite pictures in their white satin damask, cut glass, and dainty china. Covers were laid for ten and those invited were: Messdames A. E. Ewing, Kinney, Kessler, McWilliam, Lyon, Vears, Bowman and Ziff. The menu was elaborate and delicious:

- Olives. Water. Bonillon. Peas. Saratoga chips. Hot biscuit. Chicken. Peas. Buttered crackers. Pineapple ice and ice cream. Cakes. Coffee.

Invitations have been issued for a dancing party which promises to be a brilliant affair, they read thus:

The pleasure of your company is requested at the Manito Thursday, September Fifteenth, at eight o'clock p. m. Dancing.

- Patronesses: Mrs. C. W. Lyman, Mrs. R. Harkness, Mrs. C. Y. Wallace, Mrs. W. McCormick, Mrs. J. B. Boggs, Mrs. E. Woodward, Mrs. J. A. Hally.

This card is enclosed: Compliments. J. M. Hiltwell, S. H. Fields, Jr., C. H. Harkness, S. C. Park, H. S. Lyman.

The Ladies' Literary society met Friday and began their work for the year. The subject being treated is "South America." Those who are members are sure to do it as thoroughly and efficiently as the work accomplished last year. The last meeting was an interesting as well as instructive one. The early history of Peru before the conquest by Spain, the rulers and architecture were handled, and very ably, too.

Bishop and Mrs. Leonard have their cousin, Miss Mary Ewin of Fayette, Mo., visiting them. She is on her way to Boise. The Rev. Mr. Eldridge of Virginia, who has charge of Mr. Morris' congregation, is also their guest. On Thursday Bishop and Mrs. Leonard gave a reception to Mark and St. Paul's congregations. The bishop will soon leave for the east to be gone several weeks.

The Sherwood concert under the management of Professor Krouse promises to be a brilliant social as well as musical event. Miss Lincoln has sent word to the choir committee of the Methodist church that she has accepted a situation in Chicago, and will not, therefore, return to Salt Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Jennings, together with Mrs. and Miss Manning, are home again, having passed a delightful two months' season at Soda Springs. Mrs. Arthur Burrows is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Roy Ames, formerly Miss Ella Bowen.

A national pageant is to be given in the near future for the benefit of St. Mark's hospital. It will be under the patronage of the ladies of St. Mark's guild and occur the 11th and 12th of October.

Mrs. C. E. Wantland gives an afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock Wednesday, Sept. 14, in honor of her guest, Miss Hamilton. One hundred and seventy-five invitations are out and it promises to be a brilliant event.

Miss Dolly Walker is in Denver and her cousin, Mr. Will Walker, is in Idaho.

Miss Mary Irwin of Butte is back again at Rowland hall.

Mrs. Theron Geddis and daughter are at Castella springs.

Rev. and Mrs. N. F. Morris and Lieutenant Blount left for the east Thursday, where they will be for a short time prior to their trip abroad.

Mr. L. A. and Mrs. Scott Elliott having spent ten days in the city returned to Sunnyside, their country home, last week. They were accompanied by their guests, the Misses Safford and Osborne.

Mrs. Thomas Carter is entertaining Messdames T. P. Foot and G. D. B. Miller, who arrived in the city Friday. They will remain a week. Their many friends are delighted to see them once more.

Miss Nellie Dooley has for a guest Miss Daisy Grant of Ogden.

Mrs. Boyd Park and daughter have returned from a pleasant stay in California, whither Mrs. Boyd had gone for the benefit of her health.

Miss Snyder, on her way from a visit to her parents and en route to New York, stopped for a few days in the city to see old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanner, the Misses Hanner and their guest, Miss Love, made a party at the theatre to see "The Junior Partner."

Mrs. Mary Bishop, her daughter Lola and Mr. Lee Bishop leave for the east on Thursday next.

Mrs. Kate has purchased the Clute mansion and will take possession at once.
